BOLD ROBBERY

Thieves Enter the Home of Mr.
Will Kelton.

The Prowlers Took Three Watches and Ransacked the House.

Mr. Will Kelton, who resides on Tennessee street and is an employee of the N. C. and St. L., was at work last night, and Mrs. Kelton went downtown to see the parade and fireworks.
When she returned home she found that thieves had entered the house during her absence and turned everything topsy turvy.

Clothes were scattered all over the floor, drawers were turned upside down, and among the missing articles were three watches, two belonging to Mr. Kelton and one to his wife. No money was taken.

Mr. Kelton reported the burglary to the police, but of course could not furnish them any clue.

ROBBED IN MAYFIELD.

Lost $5 and a Valuable Lead Note, Stolen from Mr. Wright.

Mr. R. F. Wright, a prominent tobacco man of Mayfield, was robbed of a $5 bill and a $1,300 lead note this morning in the depot at Mayfield.
He had his money out to purchase a ticket and it is supposed that some one saw where he put it and robbed him. There was quite a crowd in the depot at the time.

TOUCHED FOR $150.

Dr. Gingles, of Kirksey, Calloway county, was robbed of $150 last night while coming up the levee after the fireworks. He had the money in his pantaloons pocket, and after reaching the New Richmond hotel, he and his wife and friends were talking of pickpockets, when he reached his hand into his pants pocket and discovered that it had been cut, and his money and railroad return tickets stolen. He reported the loss, but nothing could be done, as there was no clue.

A man from Clifton, Tenn., was last night robbed of about $150 on Broadway.

Know Woman's Way.

"I hate you!" she cried. It had been upon her lips to tell him that she loved him, merely, but when she looked into his sad, pleading eyes her heart failed her; she could not crush him altogether. "I hate you!" she cried, accordingly. As for the youth, he was mightily encouraged, since he knew something of the nature of women.

ALLEGORICAL PARADE TONIGHT

The first day of the Paducah carnival was a brilliant success, and those who came here to witness it will not go away disappointed. The town is in holiday attire, and everybody is out for enjoyment. There was never such a crowd of strangers in Paducah before, and the crowd is estimated at 7,000 to 10,000 by good calculators. Today there are many more than yesterday, and many others will arrive tonight, for the ball and allegorical parade.

The decorations are the prettiest ever seen in the city, and have been greatly complimented by the visitors.
The people have had some little difficulty in finding places to sleep, but eating accommodations are good, although there is somewhat of a rush about meal time. Last night all the hotels and boarding houses were crowded to overflowing, and many of the rooms were occupied by from three to eight people, sleeping on the floor some in the hallways and others in chairs. The majority of the visitors, however, are guests of friends.

ARRIVAL OF KING.

Yesterday afternoon the most impressive event of the day took place.
This was the arrival at the wharf of the king. The levee contained thousands of people, and a fleet of steamers met his majesty at the incline. When the city was reached, his disembarkation was greeted by scores of whistles, sells and cheers. He was presented with the key to the city by Mayor Lang, and the procession formed with the king, Mayor Lang, with a page carrying the key, the retinue, bands, council, company K and others.

THE ELKS PARADE.

The most unique parade ever given in the city was given last night by the Elks. It was viewed by thousands and thousands, who completely blocked many of the streets in their engines.

The procession was formed on Washington street, and traversed a goodly portion of Broadway and Jefferson street.

Exalted Ruler A. C. Atkins, with eight little girls, occupied the big float in the van, and the horsemen and marchers were attired in every conceivable kind of costume. The Ice Water band, which created such a furore in St. Louis, was there, and the Knights of the Mystic Krew of Konus, of Cairo, brought up the rear of the procession.

THE FIREWORKS.

The fireworks ended the evening's festivities. They were given on barges out in the river and there was never witnessed here before such a magnificent display.

One of the beautiful effects was an elk head with B. F. O. E.—217, undeneath, and which evoked hearty cheers. This was given in honor of the Elks by the Due Fireworks company, who gave the entire display last night under the direction of Mr.
John Due and his assistants.

Another very fine piece was the queen's picture, which was loudly applauded.

THE BALL.

The carnival ball at the Palmer house last night was attended by many couples, and was most enjoyable.

The Elks parade was a great and pleasant surprise to the public, who had not even a suspicion of what it was going to be. It was decidedly the most novel procession that ever passed through Paducah, and considering the length of time in which it was arranged and executed, it was a credit to the town as well as the Elks. They received the greatest patriotic from everybody, and have reason to be proud of it.

THE PARADE.

The merchants' parade this morning was the most elaborate and magnificent thing in its way ever essayed in Paducah. People were unanimous in pronouncing it truly great.

A detailed description would be impossible, as a great deal of space could be devoted to each float and every special feature of the parade.
Nearly every mercantile and manufacturing establishment in the city was represented.

The parade began with mounted police, officers and grand marshals.
Following this came the Murphysboro band, and company K, Third Kentucky regiment. The soldiers were cheered all along the line of march.

Following this came the flower parade, in which there were the most beautifully decorated rigs ever seen in Paducah. Each and every one was greeted with unqualified expressions of admiration, and the beauty of the carriage was excelled only by the pretty feminine occupants who greeted them with their presence.

The Ladies of the Macabees and Miss Helen Barbee's kindergarten came next, followed by floats of various business houses as per program.

After the Cairo band followed the fire department, led by Chief Wood and Assistant Chief Augustus. The fire engines and other machines were tastefully decorated, although the decorations were impaired by a run the department had last night, after they had been completed.

The Paducah band was last of the musical organizations in the procession, and was followed by the displays of many of the manufacturing establishments.

The entire parade was over a mile long, and required an hour to pass. It was gorgeous in its conception, and most creditable in its execution, and simply baffles description. Much of its success is due to the efficient management of the marshals of the various divisions.

The street cars stopped for the procession, and none ran on Broadway after the parade began passing.
The crowd that viewed the parade from various points is estimated at from 20,000 to 30,000 people. It was decidedly the largest crowd that was ever in Paducah at one time for any purpose. The streets were for blocks packed and jammed. After the parade there was a big rush in which it is a wonder some one was not crushed.

BOYS HAVE FUN.

Many boys, and even men, to say nothing of a few girls, have amused themselves during the past two days with tin horns and soft ball outstings.
They have in most instances proven themselves nuisances, but everybody in good humor, and took the blowing and throwing good naturedly. Thousands of the balls and horns have been sold, but the balloon craze does not seem to have struck the crowd, although there were plenty of balloon vendors in the city.

COURT HOUSE DESERTED.

There was no one about the court house all day today, with the exception of one or two officials. There was not even a marriage license issued yesterday or today.

POST OFFICE CLOSED.

The post office this morning closed at noon for today, in pursuance of instructions of Assistant Post Master General Heath. It was a courtesy that the people of Paducah as well as the employees at the post office will appreciate very much, as the office is closed only on legal holidays as a rule, and the assistant post master general paid Paducah quite a compliment in giving the desired permission.

POLICE DISPLAY.

Marshal Collins and his efficient police force made a good display this morning, despite the fact that many of them were forced to remain on duty on account of the unusually large numbers of people in the city.
Paducah's "finest" are second to none.

THE CUP'S AWARDED.

Mr. Tarbell Laurie and Miss Floss Owen were awarded the handsome trophy cup offered for the most attractive rig in the flower parade, and Mr. Andy Bauer, of the Bauer Pottery, for the best industrial display, and Mr. T. A. Lyle, for the best float in the procession. The awards were not made without some difficulty, for there were many contestants who won consideration. Judges from out of the city decided all the contests.

CAIRO OFFICERS HONORED.

Personnel in the procession were the Cairo officials who are here the guests of the Paducah councilmen.
They were all in carriages, and were complimented on all sides for their distinguished appearance.

TONIGHT'S FESTIVITIES.

The grand allegorical procession takes place tonight, and will form at 7 o'clock p. m. and start at 7:30 sharp, and will be the triumphal progress of his three glorious Majesty, King Escherup, and the Queen of the carnival through the streets of the city. The parade will form at the foot of Jefferson street and proceed to Monroe, over Monroe to Seventh, up Seventh to Jefferson, up Jefferson to Ninth, up Ninth to Broadway, down Broadway to First, up First to Court, out Court to Fourth, up Fourth to Adams, out Adams to Seventh, down Seventh to Washington, down Washington to Fifth and down Fifth to the Palmer House, where the coronation of the Queen of the Carnival will take place and the parade will disband. The coronation of the Queen takes place thirty minutes after her arrival at the hotel.

Workmen this morning put an electrical flash light in the cupola of the government building in order to throw the tableau of the coronation into greater distinctness.

THE MYSTIC BALL.

The Mystic ball tonight at the Palmer House promises to be the greatest function within the history of the city. There will be beautiful women and gallant men in numbers, many guests from elsewhere being present, and the costumes will be the attraction. The queen of the carnival, Miss Sinsott, and her maids of honor and matrons of honor, will add no little to the loveliness of the party. As souvenirs beautiful dance programs will be distributed.

SENTENCE REDUCED.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The sentence of two years loss of license for ap-tain Watkins, for accident to the City of Paris, has been reduced to six months.

MANY ROBBERIES.

People Robbed on the Streets
Last Night.

The police have heard of many robberies, but none of them have been reported to police headquarters with names and details.

One stranger on Broadway this morning claimed to Officer Harlan that his pocketbook containing $150 was stolen last night.

Others have had their pockets picked of watches and money, and several houses have been entered by thieves and money and valuables taken.

The police are of course powerless to do anything, owing to the large crowd here.

One man from Benton, who did not give his name but said he was on his way to Texas, reported to Justice Emery last night that his pocket was cut and $225 stolen last night.
He could furnish no clue and the Justice could not render him assistance.

GEN. HENRY DEAD

A Hero and a Leading Army Officer Dead.

Died This Morning in New York of Pneumonia.—A Distinguished Career.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Brigadier General Guy V. Henry, U. S. A., died here this morning of pneumonia.
Gen. Henry led the first troops that invaded Porto Rico and later was military governor of the island.
He resigned a few months ago and was then appointed to command the department of the Missouri.
Gen. Henry fought throughout the civil war, making a brilliant record.
He was also one of the greatest Indian fighters in the army. The funeral occurs Thursday at the Arlington cemetery in Washington.

A STRANGE FIND.

Man Found Tied to a Telephone Post Last Night.

A man reported to Officer Jones this morning that last night late he was going along on North Seventh street, when he heard cries of distress.
He followed the sound, and came upon a stranger tied fast to a telephone post. The man was very eager to be released, and did not say how he got there nor what he was put there for, and did not give his name.

It is not known whether some of his friends tied him up to get sober or not, but when he was rescued he soon disappeared, profusely thanking his benefactor.

so I cannot but express profound sorrow that so many gallant officers performance of their duty. I also acknowledge with gratitude the liberal surprised man last night when he went into the jail to feed. Two of for freedom, and when they got out side locked the jailer in, where he remained until he could attract the attention of outsiders.

Corundum Versus Steel.

Within a few years past the use of corundum has greatly increased, partly as a result of the discovery of corundum deposits in North Carolina and Georgia. More lately it has been found in Ontario. Originally corundum was derived almost exclusively from India. Ranking next to the diamond in hardness it has long been employed for grinding gems and other hard materials. At present the use of "corundum wheels" is spreading.
These wheels are composed of corundum grains firmly cemented together, and are said to be twice as effective and durable as emery wheels. They are employed instead of steel files for cutting down metal surfaces, and in place of grindstones for sharpening tools. A corundum wheel, it is averred, will grind off a pound of iron in one-eighth of the time and at one-seventh of the cost required to do the same work with a file.

Gifts from C. Vanderbilt.

An old custom which has not survived in many modern churches is the buying and selling outright of pews.
Just as one would buy a cemetery lot.
The custom survives in old Trinity church at Newport, where Cornelius Vanderbilt presented to his daughter, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, a deed to a pew as a gift. William K. Vanderbilt has also given a pew to his son, who recently married Miss Fair.

LOCAL LINES.

Notice.

On and after this date a charge will be made for the publication of resolutions of respect, obituary notices, cards of thanks, official notices of meetings of lodges, societies or other organizations, and all notices of church entertainments where a fee is charged or collection taken.

The telephone line from Brooklyn to Metropolis and from Brooklyn to Golconda is about ready for service. Paducah should by all means get on this line.

Sells Brothers & Forepaugh's circus, which showed at Mayfield yesterday, went to Dyersburg, Tenn., this morning, and will show there today.

The South Before the War company went to Fulton this morning to show tonight.

Raymond Frazier, aged 3 years, died last night near Mt. Vernon from cramp, and the remains were interred today at Mt. Vernon.

Mr. Wallace Weil in some unknown way lost his watch in yesterday afternoon's crowd. It was an heirloom and highly prized. He will give $25 reward for its return and ask no questions.

There were not less than 7,000 visitors in Paducah last night.

A small boy and a tin horn is equal to an average brass band.

Look to your doors and to your pockets. The prowler and the lifter are among us.

Tomorrow will bring the calm after the storm of yesterday and today.

An admirable feature of the carnival has been the good feeling prevailing.

The din of the tin horn was terrific last night. Where did they all come from was frequently heard. From the noise made there were millions of them.

The jams on the streets today were greater if possible than those of yesterday.

Paducah is not slow when it comes to carnivals.

Twenty thousand people witnessed the fire display last night. Many saw the sight from the levee front and others from steamers and many from the Illinois shore.

A pickpocket named Duffy, who was following the Sells Brothers and Forepaugh circus, was arrested at Mayfield yesterday by Special Agent Taylor, of the L. C., for getting about $15 from a citizen there.

The flower parade was as beautiful as imagination could suggest. The charming women who appeared in the vehicles added no little to the display.

Paducah's enterprising people threw bouquets by the hundred at themselves and the city today.

Don't get tired until after tonight's pageant parade. You can rest after it is all over.

There was a very light sprinkle this morning and the skies have been cloudy all day. This afternoon it looks very much like falling weather here tonight.

The bands have regaled the city consistently with fine music and have added no little to the happiness which has prevailed. They have "worked" most creditably.

The carnival committees, each and all, have won the universal praise of visitors and home people. They have gotten only what they deserved.

What will be an attractive part of tonight's parade will be the drill of the Flambeau club.

Company K, attracted much attention when it appeared yesterday and today. The boys stand in high esteem among the people.

So far as it was possible to learn up to this afternoon there had not been an accident or other marvellous incident to rob the carnival of general pleasure.

THE SIBERIAN LINE.

An Enormous Increase in Murder and Robbery—Attacks on Trains.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the London Globe writes:

"The 'Bourse Gazette' has just published the following letter from a correspondent at Tomsk, in which the past and present conditions in Siberia are well depicted."

"The new life" of the country now being called into existence by the construction of the Siberian railway is very clearly to be discerned even at this moment. An immense stream of settlers is colonizing tracts of land which hitherto have scarcely been traversed, even by the hunter; commercial men and all kinds of nomadic people in search of an easy livelihood are quickly rousing the country from its long sleep of centuries. As a protest against this disturbance of the old order of things, there has come about an enormous increase in the murders, robbery, theft, and all kinds of evil deeds, which have hitherto been rare."

In the regions traversed by the line, and in the adjacent towns and villages, this state of lawlessness is increasing at a rapid rate; it may with truth be said that scarcely a day passes in the towns of Siberia without the occurrence of a case of robbery, murder, or of some such violent act. Even the trains are attacked by the highway robbers, the railway wagons and depots are frequently plundered, private houses have been broken into and whole families have been killed by these bands of vagrant robbers. In Irkutsk there has been formed a 'Rogues' Club, which carries on crime in a systematic manner. All along the line of railway life and property are in continual danger, and at Tomsk, Krasnoyarsk and Irkutsk one cannot go about the streets at night without being armed. This state of affairs continued for some time to be confined to the immediate vicinity of the line, and remote villages were left undisturbed. Yesterday, Yakutsk and Barnaul and not until recently felt the effects of the 'new life'; now, however, these large and flourishing towns have attracted the undesirable attention of the marauding bands, and the result is that crime is rapidly increasing in these three towns. Especially remarkable is the influence exercised by the railway upon the resident population, many of them abandon husbandry and take to a wandering existence; a visit to the nearest railway station has filled them with a desire to travel, and, true to the Russian character, they give themselves up to trade and speculation.

Long Before the Wedding.
The bride, I understand, will not come down the aisle on her father's arm. "No, papa's arm won't take a rest. But there is something funny in your suggestion," "How so?" "Why, they say that when the bridegroom asked papa for the bride he left the house on papa's foot."

THE END HOG.
And the Fat Man That Crowded Into a Car Seat.

Boston Herald: I saw a funny sight the other night on a boulevard electric, which rather knocked the "end hog" silly. A man weighing in the neighborhood of 400 pounds shoved a woman with him in the seat which already held two other passengers; one of them yielded to pressure and moved to the other end of the car, and then came the tug-of-war. The stout party became purple with rage. "Please move up," the "end hog" blandly answered: "I can't." Then the 400 pounder made one more desperate effort, and finally squeezed himself through the second space, puffing and panting with the exertion. But his were not over. A woman had stopped the car, and as the conductor counted her for this particular bench, he ordered her to "end hog" and she went, climbing over the "end hog" to a space of less than three inches besides the choleric passenger, who was the embodiment of six furies. It was more laughable to see the indignation on the countenances of those on this last wedge had made reversed. The "end hog" hung his head over the running board and tried to breathe; the fat party sprawled on his elbows and grumbled to his companion, and the other end seater hunched herself into nothingness in vain. When the "fifth wheel" to this coach finally got off the car she was crushed to better than an opera hat. Then the conductor expanded, and once more four passengers on that particular bench were more than it could conveniently accommodate. I was sorry to leave without knowing whether the stout gentleman had the right of war, or if he stepped on and obliterated forever the "end hog" when he reached his destination.

HOMAGE TO THE DEAD.
It Was Incongruous but Sincere—The Poor's Sorrow.

There is nothing so pitiful in the way of mourning garments as the half-way mourning, pieced out of odds and ends, because the feeling of grief is so real that there must be some outward and visible sign of it, says the New York Times. The fashionably made mourning may be only a fashionable expression of a death within certain family bounds, when black must be worn as a matter of good form. There was a little family belonging to the first-class going to one of the beaches the other day. There was the mother and several children. Evidently it was the father who had been taken. The mother was in black and so was the boys, but the oldest little girl wore a sunshade and a light blue collar and around her crown a big piece of black crepe. It was incongruous as a matter of dress, but as showing real sorrow for a real loss it was touching. Black is expensive, the little girl had perhaps a black woolen gown, but that was a little family belonging to the first-class going to one of the beaches the other day.
